

ACHS Board Oks Levy Hike Of 5.14%

by GLORIA DAVIS

In keeping with an inflation rate of approximately 5 percent, the Antioch High School Board has tentatively approved the 1987-88 budget at $8,762,500, a 5.14 percent raise over last year's expenditures.

The 1986-87 expenditures totaled $8,334,185. But on the other side of the coin, ACHS's enrollment is expected to decrease almost 50 students with registrations still coming in as school was about to start, director of pupil services Pete Pekarinen told the board that he expected the enrollment to hover around 1,725.

In other business, the board:

- approved the employment of science teacher Thomas Elliot Hoffeditz, social studies teacher Dana Baumeister, English teacher Judith Logan, and head boys' tennis coach Tim Otten. Hoffeditz will be assisting the coaching of the frosh football team and Baumeister is slated for freshman cheerleading sponsor.

- with extension classes set to start on Aug. 24, the board approved the College of Lake County Center agreement.

- authorized the administration to open the College Career Center to the public one night per week, on Wednesday evenings, starting fall and staffed by guidance counselor Tim Noonan.

- accepted low bid from Countrystyle, Inc. of Bristol for the milk and ice cream for the coming year.

- awarded low bid of $58,000 to Rasmussen Steel Co. for the repair of the roof on the 1970 addition.

- heard that nine students from the class of 1987 had completed their graduation requirements by attending summer school.

Arrest Probationer For Burglary Of Laundry

Robert Roniss, 23, Cicero, Ill., who was arrested and convicted of burglarizing Antioch Pizza on Rte. 59 last December, has been arrested again by the Antioch Police Dept. for burglarizing the West Side Coin Laundry also on Rte. 59, the same night.

According to Lt. Tom Fisher of the Antioch Police Dept., Roniss was caught leaving the premises by police after the alarm in the pizza place went off.

The police think that a second man was involved and are still investigating that possibility.

Roniss, who was already on probation for the burglary of a Cicero tavern, was subsequently convicted of the burglary of the pizza place and received another five years probation in a Lake County court.

The Antioch police, last week, received a report from the Ill. Crime Lab stating that a screwdriver, admittedly owned by and found on Roniss the night in December 1986 that he was arrested for the pizza place burglary, was used to pry open coin machines in the laundry.

Burglars took approximately $5,000 from the laundry.

Roniss has been charged with the burglary of the laundry in Lake County court and is out on bond pending trial.

Biggest Board Race Found At Antioch High School

As of the final filing date for positions on Antioch's school boards, 5 p.m., Monday, five people had filed for the three open seats on the Dist. 34 Board of Education.

Filing are incumbent Gail Heath, Jacquelyn Bonovitz, Kathryn Oddson, Fred Eichhorn and Roy P. Bolin. Incumbents Clint Glover and Garnet Carney did not file.

Filing for the three open seats on the Board of Education of Grass Lake School are all three incumbents Ardeen Harris, John Steitz, Don Grob and a newcomer Marie Bausam.

Running for the three open seats on the Emmons Grade school Board are Pamela Pierson, John Pekus and Sandy Steffanberg. Incumbents Jium Koppa and Jan Ranney did not file petitions.

Ranney filed for the one of the open seats on the Board of Education at Antioch High School, along with incumbents Frank Walsh and Michael Zeien and newcomers Paul Ashley and Laurel Dahl.

Millburn Voters To Decide New Addition Question

Millburn Dist. 24 voters will decide in November whether or not the school may add onto its present building.

Millburn Board of Education members, at a Monday night meeting, voted to seek approval for a $1.8 million addition.

Supt. Lee Smithey said an advisory committee will be set up in the district.

"The action came after extensive study concerning growth projections and possible building proposals," Millburn Supt. Lee Smithey said.

In a related matter, it was reported that enrollment for the current school year was 285 students and growing. This represents more than 100 students from this time last year.

In other action, Beth Delcorps was in attendance and presented the school's Language Arts Learning Objectives for grades three, six and eight. These were adopted by the board.

The following new staff members were hired: Delores Hain to teach junior high reading and Chapter I; Joanne Rothunde to teach fourth grade and Cheri Metachuck to teach junior high and primary art.

Also:

- the board decided to continue its insurance package with Country Companies.

- raised substitute's pay to $45 per day;

- passed a resolution to buy four new buses.

Bureaucracy Pollution Emissions Tests Result

BY GLORIA DAVIS

Now I'm all for cleaning up the environment, and though I don't go along the highway picking up trash, I'm agi'n littering, pollution, etc.

All the credit in the world should be given to those who are spending time fighting the toxic waste dumps and I agree that this planet could succumb and become a giant garbage dump if something isn't done.

Since breathing is probably one of the most necessary bodily functions, I'm all for clean air and the antipollution start made by requiring vehicle emissions tests has its definite merits in that quest, but I ask you, is the bureaucracy as usual taking a good idea the testing are not necessarily adhering to the state requirements.

When it was first revealed that Kenosha County was among those areas where emissions testing is required, a loud cry that this would be senseless with cars from parts of Illinois, where testing was not required, pouring into Kenosha County daily.

Now parts of Illinois, ergo parts of Lake County, have required emissions testing, but many places that do not have to test their cars are not too far from the "emissionless" Wisconsin border, like Fox Lake, Spring Grove, McHenry, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Barrington.

And those areas that have required testing

and screwing it up by employing the wrong methods.

In Wisconsin, drivers in certain parts of the state where the ozone health standards have been violated, are required to take their cars to an emission testing station each year when it is time to renew their license plates.

These areas are Washington, Ozaukee, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha counties.

If the vehicle does not pass, meaning the hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions count is too high, then drivers must take the vehicle to a mechanic to be brought up to manufacturer's specifications.

If one spends over $55 for these repairs, motorists may receive a one year waiver available at emissions testing stations so, for that year you may drive around polluting the air all over the place.

Mind you, if you are like me, and wait until just before your plates are due to take the emissions test thinking that your less than one-year-old car will surely pass, you could get a little upset at the bold lettering in the pamphlet they give you that says vehicle test requirements do not change your license plate renewal deadline.

I took my car in on a Friday, the day before my license plates were to expire. It was the middle of the next week before I could get an appointment to have my car fixed and everytime a saw a squad car I was sure I was going to get pulled over and ticketed.

Then, almost hidden in the literature they gave me, I found out that repairs are to be made within 90 days of the license plate expiration date.

As I write it has been a week and several testings, and a second dealer is still trying to get my car to pass the test. I have no idea what this is going to cost and the only reason I have not been car-less is that the first dealer kindly gave me a loaner car, a rarity without high rental costs entering the picture.

I have talked to Wisconsin automobile service departments that tell me that after they work on a car to see that it passes the testing, they often have to do some readjustments so that the car will operate correctly.

These adjustments could cause the car to again violate the emissions law, but the car has already passed the test for this year, ergo, all cars on the road which have passed are much less stringent about the entire thing than Wisconsin is.

A computer chooses names for a first emissions test at random. Once one is tagged by the computer (which could take a long time) they must take a test every year at that time.

I couldn't find anyone in Antioch that had received a test notice and those people that I talked to claimed that no testing station had been set up for that area yet.

What happens if a car doesn't pass in Illinois? Not much really. You will receive several notices calling for corrections to be made in your car's emissions over a long period of time and then they threaten to take your drivers license away unless you comply.

Not enough time has passed since the emissions requirement, so it would be hard to gauge how long it would be before Jim Edgar's office would actually pull your license.

Meanwhile, you are polluting the air everytime you drive your car and if you go over the state line into Wisconsin, all that carbon monoxide you will be tossing around will most probably eliminate any good being done by that area's testing.

Of course that has probably already been done by the thousands of cars older than the 1972 models in Wisconsin, 1967 models in Illinois, that are not required to take the test at all because they could never pass, regardless of repairs.

According to the literature on emissions, since the testing started in Wisconsin two years ago, there has been a 1,520 ton reduction in hydrocarbons and a 20,000 ton reduction in carbon monoxide emissions, but they do not give any figures on what percentage of the total this is so one might gauge whether or not the result justifies the agrivation.

As usual we have a law that is a good idea, being messed up by its form of administration. If the plan is to reek a substantial reduction in air pollution caused by car emissions by the year 2500 A. D., under the present premise, that possibility exists.

Meanwhile, All I want to know is where is my car?

Troop 72 Scout Wins Eagle Award

Brian W. Clark, son of Harold and Helen Clark of Antioch and member of Antioch's Boy Scout Troop 92, received the coveted Eagle award at a Court of Honor held at Moose Lodge 525. Clark, a senior at Antioch Community High School, joined Troop 92 in 1981.

During the past six-and-one-half years, Clark has earned 24 merit badges, eight skill awards, and 13 special scouting awards.

In addition, he has held six leadership positions, including senior patrol leader, junior assistant scoutmaster, and a staff counselor position for Northeast Illinois' Junior Leadership Training Camp.

His Eagle project included 252 honors in the design and construction of a wood bridge across Sequoit Creek at the Upper Grade School. His high adventure activities include a 1985 backpacking trip through the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico and a 1987 canoeing trip in Minnesota's Boundary Waters Canoe Area.

The Eagle Court of Honor began with an invocation led by Father Robert Tonelli, associate pastor at Saint Peters. After master of ceremonies and Assist. Scoutmaster Bill Goetzelman introduced the dignitaries, Senior Patrol Leader Matt Aschbacher directed the Presentation of Colors.

Calling of the Court was led by Troop 92 Eagle Scouts Dave Edwards, Nick Zeien, Paul J. Hettich, and John and Mark Aschbacher who recited "The Voice of the Eagle."

Other Eagle Scouts in attendance were Phil Aschbacher and Phil Hettich. With the lights dimmed, the colorful candle ceremony Lighting the Eagle Trail was conducted by Scoutmaster Bernie Dost, Bill Goetzelman, and Junior Assist. Scoutmasters Dale Gade and Bob Paschke.

Guest speaker and committee member Dr. Paul Hettich spoke about "Scouting: Bridgebuilding to the Future" and applied this theme to Clark's experience in Troop 92.

After Scoutmaster Dost read Challenge and Charge to Clark, Northeast Illinois Council's Senior Dist. Exec. Eugene Warber presented the Eagle award to Clark in the presence of his parents.

Subsequently, Eagle Scout Clark expressed his gratitude to all who had helped him throughout the years.

After the Scoutmaster's Minute, the colors were retired and the ceremony ended. All guests were treated to an excellent buffet dinner prepared to Troop 92's Women's Auxiliary and a piece of the special Eagle cake.

Troop 92 expresses its gratitude to all who participated in the event, especially its sponsor Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525.

Clark is the second member of Troop 92 to receive the Eagle award this year. Clark and his parents live in Antioch's Felters Subdivision. He plans to study engineering at Marquette University.

Past Miss Lake Region Returns Home To Antioch

If one of the judges of the Miss Antioch contest this year looked familiar, she should have, since she is Joan Tiffany Lang.

In the summer of 1967, a Northwestern University Theatre major was crowned Miss Lake Region. The following summer, she represented the area in the Miss Illinois Pageant.

This July, exactly 20 years later, Lang was on the other side of the footlights as a judge for the 1987 Miss Antioch contest.

She began her theatrical career right here in Antioch, performing at PM&L and doing the choreography for "South Pacific." She then went on to perform professionally in Chicago theatres.

She later auditioned for and was chosen as a protegee of Carlo Menotti in New York City. While in New York, she studied with Peter Gennaro and at the Actor's Studio.

Her career took her to Hollywood, performing as Gloria with Ginger Rogers in "Mame," Jenny in "Funny Girl" with Carol Lawrence, and understudy to Barbara Eden in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Her credits also include performances with Betty Grable, Arte Johnson, James Darren and Martha Raye. Her own act was called "Tiffany & Co."

Lang was a finalist for Miss Long Beach International. In 1982, she was chosen from 1,000 women throughout the state to compete for Mrs. Illinois.

In recent years, Lang has graced the panels for several pageants including Miss Lake County.

Having taught school for the past several years, she is hoping to obtain a position in the area. She and her German shepherd, Max von Wonderbear, have moved back to Antioch, where she has her happiest memories.

St. Therese Can't Be Closed

The uncertain future of St. Therese Hospital as revealed in the announcement that the bedrock institution of Lake County health care might be sold, is part of the broad picture of an American industry in turmoil.

In a survey conducted by Arthur Andersen & Co. and the American College of Healthcare Executives, it was predicted that hospitals will continue to suffer declining inpatient usage with a probably 28 percent reduction by 1995 and that 10 percent of them will close during the same time period. The survey covered the opinions of 1,600 health care experts.

The survey underscored the belief that involvement of the federal government in hospital affairs will continue, in fact intensify. The survey predicted that government will enforce mandatory health insurance for all employees, that our growing senior population will be the industry's main issue, and that AIDS testing will be required for marriage, immigration and insurance qualifications.

Humana, Inc., the Louisville, Ky.-based publicly owned hospital holding company, is being viewed as a prime prospect to acquire troubled St. Therese. Humana has both the financial muscle and inclination to purchase the more than half-century old institution with an enviable record of service to this locality. It is interesting to ponder the possibility of Humana operating two major hospitals almost within a stone's throw distance when its planned tertiary facility, to be built in North Chicago in conjunction with Chicago Medical School, becomes reality. With this being a strong eventuality, Humana would be the major health care force in the area between Chicago and Milwaukee.

As ominous as the survey sounds, there's little chance that St. Therese will fall in the 10 percent category, not only because of the prospect of being purchased by a hospital conglomerate but also because of its medical status. Even as slim a chance that there is, the shuttering of St. Therese is unthinkable.

No Mood For Spending

In pushing for budgetary relief and veto overrides in the fall session of the Illinois General Assembly to get more tax money for education, union teachers and the school lobby are misreading the mood of the voting public.

The Chicago Sun-Times published a poll showing that people prefer cuts in services to an increase in state taxes by a two-to-one margin. In commenting on the poll, State Sen. James "Pate" Philip, Senate Republican leader who represents a suburban district, said that the poll helps explain why legislators were unwilling to support higher state taxes—there just wasn't enough public support for the increase.

In fairness to union teachers and the school lobby, more than a few General Assembly members have been sending mixed signals on the state of state finances, opposing higher taxes while laying the groundwork for actions that will make a general tax increase unavoidable. Philip called one scheme to take out a second loan to repay $100 million the state borrowed last year "like paying your MasterCard bill with your Visa card." We're satisfied that responsible leaders in the Assembly are dealing straight with the public when they say the bottom line is that Illinois can't spend money that isn't available.

Teacher union leaders are guilty of misleading the public when they insist that Lake County schools are in serious difficulty to aid cuts. With few exceptions, the losses that we've heard of are comparatively small, enough to create budgetary deficits to be sure, but not enough to cripple operations for the 1987-88 term.

What seems particularly perplexing to teacher unionists is the danger posed to their pension funds by necessary belt-tightening. The Lake County Federation of Teachers, Local 504, views the situation thusly: "We cannot jeopardize our old-age protection." They are taking the posture that members are "subsidizing" the systems for which they work when budgets are cut. This is pure pressure talk and totally self-serving.

Let the debate continue in Springfield, as it should, but legislators should know that there is support at the grassroots level to sustain the governor's vetoes.

Good Choice

We find no fault with a decision of Illinois school children making the bluegill Illinois' official fish. Gov. James Thompson signed a bill earlier this month making the selection official. Bluegills are plentiful. They are tasty. Bluegills are hardy. They are spunky and peppy. Bluegills have desirable habits. In short, they are a good choice. We have no brook for the spoil sports who claim that it would have been more appropriate to name bullheads or carp as the official state fish. Yes, the bluegill was a good choice. Hail our state fish. By the way, State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) was a co-sponsor of bluegill legislation in the Illinois Senate. Hail Adeline.

Expanding 'Watch' Program

Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox and his staff are revitalizing Neighborhood Watch, a program started in 1975 to involve citizens in the fight against crime by providing police with more eyes and ears. Perhaps you noticed signs identifying neighborhoods where the watch program has been in operation.

In breathing new life into Neighborhood Watch, the sheriff will be seeking help from township supervisors in locating leadership and coordinating training. Basically, Neighborhood Watch is designed for unincorporated areas where the "blue line" of the sheriff's office is stretched pretty thin sometimes.

Sheriff Babcox is requesting that interested citizens contact the Lake County Sheriff Dept. Crime Prevention Bureau at (312)360-5922 to learn more about Neighborhood Watch. The program has proved helpful in the past. We heartily endorse Neighborhood Watch to persons who feel the need for better police protection.

Letters To The Editor:

Transformed Village

Editor:

When are the people of Antioch going to put a stop to wildcat development?

Antioch is a classical example of "It's not what you know, it's who you know." Strange, isn't it, that Ron Cunningham, a village trustee, was able to get a zoning change with no problem? Strange, isn't it, that Al Little, a local developer, sits on the planning commission?

With the exceptions of Don Amundsen and Bob Wilton, Antioch village officials are transforming our town from a residential village to a village of pole barns and apartments.

But when the foxes are left undisturbed to guard the chicken house, what can we expect?

Misguided Mayor

Editor:

Residents of Edwards Subdivision have submitted a petition to the Village of Round Lake Beach Mayor Carl Schrimpf stating their objections to the planned opening of Oak Terr. to Shorewood Rd.

Mayor Schrimpf has requested a meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 31 in the Council Chambers, between the homeowners of Edwards and planning officials to present his "valid reasons why the road will be opened." The decision has been made by the mayor prior to any discussion or presentation of objections the taxpayers of the affected area may have to his plans.

Perhaps Mayor Schrimpf needs to be reminded of the duties of an elected public official. The key word here is elected. As mayor, his responsibilities lie in acting on behalf of the people and their wishes. A representative of the people acts as a voice of the public, yet the majority voice of the residents has gone unheeded in this instance.

Perhaps the mayor's time would be better spent if he considered the radon problem or the severe flooding which occurs in some parts of the village. Solutions to these problems could benefit hundreds of people instead of satisfying the whims of the one man.

Editor's Viewpoint

Rate Freeze Plan Still Sensible For Power Users

by BILL SCHROEDER

In filing for a re-hearing on a 9.6 percent rate freeze settlement rejected by the Illinois Commerce Commission, Commonwealth Edison is calling the bluff of radical consumer groups and putting everyone between a rock and a hard place. A neat bit of strategy!

With the filing, the utility serving most of northern Illinois has reaffirmed its support for a non-traditional rate settlement as opposed to a 27 percent or $1.4 billion base rate increase. Unless you hate electric utilities out of principal or prefer oil lamps, there really isn't much choice from our point of view. ComEd also is asking for permission to reduce the difference between summer and winter residential rates. Beginning in 1979, over Edison's strong objections, the Illinois Commerce Commission ordered the company to charge customers summer rates that are substantially higher than winter rates in the belief that all of us would use less electricity. With that kind of logic, it's no wonder the ICC rejected the original 9.6 percent rate freeze plan even though it was supported by just about everyone except the consumer group leadership.

ComEd wants to see the 9.6 percent with its minimum five-year rate freeze get the greenlight, although it says the joint 27 percent hike was filed to "protect our rights." We haven't figured that one out yet and neither has anyone else.

There might have been a bit of misplaced sentiment when the 9.6 percent rate plan was rejected July 16. That has been indicated by several of the commissioners who supported the five-year freeze. Maybe things will be different a second time around. Twenty-seven percent is ludicrous. Maybe that's exactly what ComEd intends.

RETIRED—Senior U.S. Dist. Judge Bernard M. Decker won't be a regular on the Waukegan-Chicago leg of the North Western Railroad commuter run anymore. After 25 years on the federal bench, the highly respected jurist, 84, has retired.

Judge Decker's career involved some of the first public official corruption cases in Chicago. He upheld the right of Nazis to march in Skokie by striking down the village's ban on demonstrations.

He served in the Lake-McHenry circuit for 11 years before being appointed to the federal court by President John F. Kennedy. A lifelong Republican, Judge Decker's career ironically was intertwined with Democratic politics. Selected by a Democratic president, it was a Democratic governor, the late Otto Kerner, who had the opportunity to appoint the first Democrat up to that time, the late Philip Yager of Lake Bluff, to fill Decker's circuit vacancy. The nearest the Democrats ever came before that time to possessing a circuit seat was in 1915, when Claire C. Edwards succeeded Circuit Judge Charles Whitney when he died. Judge Edwards was a Republican when sworn in, but in his youth he had been a Democrat.

Because of health problems, Judge Decker had been working on opinions in his Waukegan home and reporting to chambers only once a week. He announced his plans last week.

FALL SEASON—Capt. Don Wehrheim, master of a 33-foot cabin cruiser on the Chain O'Lakes, is getting ready for a busy fall season, the best part of the boating season on the Chain as far as your correspondent is concerned. Little traffic, balmy days, beautiful sunsets.

Because the Chain is navigable water, Wehrheim comes under U.S. Coast Guard jurisdiction, which means he must comply with more stringent safety regulations than charter boats on Lake Geneva, for example.

Boat chartering is a comparatively new industry on the 64,000-acre Chain O'Lakes. He is in his third season.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—This is the best part of summer for pop—the tomato harvest. Salads, sliced on sandwiches or eaten as fruit, home grown, vine-ripened tomatoes are hard to beat. This season we've had a chance to compare Lakeland grown tomatoes with Wisconsin-grown. We're opting for Lakeland tomatoes as juicier with a bit more tang, although the Badger state variety seem to be better formed or "prettier."

Pit Bull Controversy Sparks Dog Prejudice

by KAREN WILTBERGER

Bruiser, a 100-lb pit bull, along with his 45-lb neice, Scratches, left their Kenosha home to prove another side of the story—pit bulls aren't all dangerous and vicious.

Owner Michael La-Chapelle played with his two dogs while Grayslake residents Chris Hart, 11, and Larry Runion, 6, set down their bikes and joined the action.

"Those are supposed to be mean dogs, aren't they?" Chris asked. "But whoever trained these, they're nice. Did you train these dogs?" he asked the owner.

Larry soon became attached to Bruises. "When I first saw this one, I was scared. But now I'm not scared," he said.

"They're more than just dogs to me, they're my kids," said La-Chapelle, one of many responsible pit bull owners who see the breed becoming singled out as "vicious."

This year, pit bull attacks have been heavily reported nationwide and ordinances banning the breed have started to surface.

Bill Stough, senior warden of the Lake County Animal Control, said publicity of pit bull attacks has prompted some Lake County pit bull owners to set their pets loose and even go so far as to have the dogs put to sleep.

In two months, from May 1, 1987 to June 30, 1987, Lake County Animal Control saw 23 pit bulls, up from the average one or two a month, Stough said. Almost every pit bull was put to sleep as if it were a "vicious or dangerous" animal because animal adoption agencies, funded by donations, don't want to be liable for pit bull attacks.

According to Lake County Animal Warden statistics, pit bulls were responsible for 10 of 405 dog bites in Lake County during a six-month period from Dec., 1985, to June 1986.

"Ten bites. That's nothing compared to other breeds—and they haven't been bad bites," Stough said. "In other areas, there have been major bites, but around here they haven't been that bad."

The most serious recent attack in Lake County occurred in Zion where a pit bull puppy passed one child to bite another child. "We feel there had to be something why it attacked the other kid. We don't know what the circumstances were," Stough said.

Tina Parrish, chief warden of the Waukegan Animal Control, said six pit bulls were impounded because of a complaint that the dogs were being mistreated. Parrish said it is suspected that the dogs were being starved and had open wounds. An investigation is pending.

"Our position in animal control is any animal can be vicious," she said. "My motto is: 'Anything with teeth can bite.'"

In Illinois, State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) is fighting to stop discrimination against the pit bull with House Bill 1500. The bill, which awaits approval by the governor, would preclude any local ordinances from banning the breed or labeling pit bulls as dangerous or vicious.

Churchill said overreaction to the vicious attacks has startled the public into believing that pit bulls are the most dangerous type of dog.

"Really what we are looking at is the quality of a dog, not the breed of a dog," Churchill said. "It's not the dog that's vicious per se, it's the environment and the master of the dog that makes a vicious dog."

Kisses

Pit bull owner Michael La-Chapelle, of Kenosha, gets a big smooch from "Bruises," a 100-lb. pit bull who has been described by outsiders as "vicious and dangerous" because of his breed.—Photo by Karen Wiltberger.

In Lake County, Waukegan appears to be the first to pass a vicious and dangerous dog ordinance since the so-called pit bull controversy began. The law, which was adopted April 20, however, is not geared toward any single breed of dog.

But a Mundelein trustee is urging the village to pass an ordinance that would ban or at least put some restrictions on pit bulls.

The village is now investigating other ordinances, said Laura Carnighi, Mundelein administrative asst., adding that an ordinance may not necessarily single out pit bulls.

"That's the dog that has received the greatest amount of attention in the last few months, but that's not to say there aren't other cases with German Shepherds, dobermans or poodles," she said.

Cincinnati, Ohio, is one of the first cities in the nation to outlaw the possession of pit bulls. The ordinance, adopted January 28, 1987, gives the same penalty to an owner of a pit bull as it would to an owner of another breed of dog who is considered "vicious and dangerous."

"According to the ordinance, the pit bull endangers the life and safety of human beings," said Charles Nuckolls, deputy clerk of the City of Cincinnati.

La-Chapelle and other area people who deal with pit bulls agree that the pit bull has fallen victim of trainers of "fighting dogs."

With a jaw that clamps down with 1,800 to 2,500 pounds of pressure per square inch and doesn't let go, the pit bull has the strength to be a killer dog, they agree. The boxer, with a bite of 800 pounds of pressure per square inch, doesn't have near the strength of a pit bull's bite.

La-Chapelle, who used to raise dobermans, said "Pit bulls if raised right are one of the stablest dogs. I can guarantee it."

It should be the owners of fighting dogs, not the pit bull breed, that should be punished, said animal warden Stough.

"Fest" Featuring Former Bears

by Wayne Tryhuk

Former Chicago Bears Gale Sayers and Dennis Lick will be honorary chairman and co-chairman, respectively, at the 1987 Lake County Life Force Festival on September 13, according to Barbara Bergstrom, chairman of the event.

The festival, a fund raiser for the Southwest Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society, will be held at the Kemper Group Complex on Rt. 22 east of Lake Zurich.

Sayers and Lick will be greeting visitors and signing autographs in the Chicago Bears Garden, where television sets will be tuned in to afternoon gridiron battles, Bergstrom said.

Also featured during the day will be a bike-a-thon, walk-a-thon, fish-speed-casting contest, flower and garden show, 30 to 50 clowns, raffles, music, a golf contest for seniors and novice golfers, food and prizes.

Lake Zurich's own "Wolf Man" Doug Knapp will be providing music to stimulate the efforts of bike-a-thon participants.

In addition, Lake Zurich pompon girls and representatives from the Elia Senior Center will be offering additional encouragement.

DOCTOR'S FORUM TENNIS ELBOW

By Dr. Mark Bowman

During the summer months, one of the more popular sporting activities is tennis. Along with this sport one may see an entity known as "tennis elbow". The term "tennis elbow" is a catchall phrase and would be better labeled as "overload syndrome" since the injury can occur from playing any sport which requires forceful use of the forearm musculature (golf, bowling, etc.).

Elbow overload syndrome is not the only injury which can occur at the joint. There are a number of different types of injuries which can occur which must be differentiated from elbow overload syndrome. These other injuries are also commonly associated with sporting activities but are less common overall.

The basic problem with overload syndrome is that the shock absorbing functions of the elbow musculature is overloaded. This results in small tears (microtrauma) of the muscle, thus leading to the acute pain which the patient notices during or shortly after a particular activity. The patient will usually note the pain over the lateral aspect of the elbow joint.

Now one may ask who can have this particular type of injury. A young conditioned athlete who plays regularly can suffer overload injury of the elbow, but the problem is more common in the underconditioned player, usually over 35, who plays occasionally, but aggressively. In this athlete, the force imposed on the generally weaker extensor muscle group cannot be readily absorbed.

There are a number of treatment modalities which can be used for elbow overload syndrome. Pain medications, ice, as well as proper stretching and exercise techniques are included in the basic treatment regimen. Occasionally, a local injection with specified medications may be required depending on patient response and doctor evaluation. The importance of a pre-game warm-up must also be stressed. Racquet sport players may find that a forearm band helps reduce sliding of the extensor muscles over the painful area. In the older player with osteoarthritis, local treatment may be attempted, but it may simply come to the point that a new sport (such as swimming or cycling) will be required to preclude undue stress to the elbow joint.

If you have a problem such as this, consult a physician for evaluation and treatment.

Marketing War Escalates Among Nation's Hospitals

Most of us had returned from our vacations, so a luncheon get-together was appropriate. At our usual restaurant, there was congratulations for Dr. Yungren whose firstborn had arrived since last we met. He was biased about whether he was the new breed and did his share of parenting, diapering, feeding, etc. It appears he does. This done, we settled on ordering our meals and the give-and-take that makes these meetings worthwhile.

Whinerk was in a pensive mood. "We've been told that if we want to keep our practice we'll have to market better. I trust you've noticed the HMOs on tv demonstrate superiority in this regard. One does it with a rhyming ditty repeating its name over and over. It goes, 'HMO, Chicago HMO; HMO, Chicago HMO.' I think it's catchy and I can't match it."

Synik said, "Come now, old man, I've got one for you. How about 'Whee, whee, whee, Whinerk's Sugaree?"

"As for me," he added, "I can win in any contest because I rhyme. How's this? 'Sick? sick? sick? Come to Synik's Clinic.' This makes me unquestionably the best doctor in town."

The chuckles were not shared by Dr. Bopal. "We've all had our laughs, but let's get serious. Marketing and medical excellence don't always match. Bringing in more business does not mean you're the best. Nor has it brought down the costs in many instances," he said.

"A study in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. showed a 26 percent more expensive stay in a hospital when it is competing actively for business," he added. "By cutting down the number of days senior citizens can stay in the hospital, Medicare succeeds in cutting costs. By not paying for everything done for them, costs have been shaved even more. But since you can't get a dime for a nickel, the more Medicare succeeds, the more costs are increased and passed on to other, younger patients."

"If similar hospitals were 15 or more miles apart, and didn't have to compete, the costs can stay down; if in the same town and they compete using the media, etc., the costs go up."

"There's a further catch to that," said Dr. Wirtuos. "The hospitals now compete out of panic because they've got empty beds. So they build satellites or medical office-like centers in or near other hospitals' territory. They covet their neighbor's patients."

Dr. Oltimer gained our attention by rapping on his water glass. "I think some figures would be in order. We're not talking peanuts here. Mt. Sinai in New York announces that will spend $1.5 million on media coverage. It's an excellent institution, but it feels it has to tell you so. Blue Cross/Blue Shield is forming HMO-type organizations, and advertising it. In the Cleveland area, it has already spent $2 million or more this year selling the public on plans where some legislature."

Musings certainly learned a lot from this dinner. Although we once warned that suits would ensue and insurance company will fight hospital, insurance will hospitals would get 100 percent coverage while nine other hospitals would only get 70 percent coverage. If effected, it blacklisted the nine and might close them.

"Although they won a court injunction so that all the hospitals would be treated the same and could have the same variety of contracts with different premiums offered the patient, it was costly. The battle goes on in the Ohio fight doctors, lawyers and doctors will fight each other, one wonders how the patient comes out in all this. The number of hospitals engaged in this warfare jumped from 64 percent in 1985 to 91 percent in 1986! In 1986, they spent $1 billion in marketing, about tripling in each of the last three years! Could this money be better spent on patient care or lowering costs in hospitals or insurance premiums?

Racine Offers Visitors Incentive For Visit

Travel to Racine, Wis. offers visitors an added incentive, since the opening of their new $22 million Lake Michigan marina this year.

An accompanying $5 million park development includes parts of the downtown area and the lakefront's multi-use Festival Park.

This all ties in with Racine's Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Racine was originally called Port Gilbert after Capt. Gilbert Knapp, its founder, and carries the honorary title of "Kringleville", reflecting the popularity of its Danish pastry. More general information about Racine is available from the Visitor's Bureau, 345 Main St., Racine, Wis., 53403, or by calling (414) 634-3293.

Wisconsin wines are gaining fame and represent a growing visitor attraction. In a recent Chicago National Restaurant Assn. Wine Classic, the Wollersheim Winery, of Prairie du Sac, earned a "Best of the Show" award and two gold medals for its local vineyard wine production.

The winery, on Rte. 188, east of Prairie du Sac, on the Wisconsin River, lies on the sunnyside of glacial river bank hills. Wollersheim has been growing grapes and making wines for over 125 years. We have stopped on several occasions to see the process, tour the vineyards and aging-cave cellars dug into the hillside.

Visitors are invited for free tours between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily...plus the opportunity to sample popular vintages from among some 5,000 cases produced annually. They can be reached by calling (608) 643-6515.

Here's a tip for continental tripsters. As of June 1, all French businesses serving food and drink are required to include the gratuity automatically on every bill. How much will it be? Percentage should be spelled out somewhere on the menu. In general, the practice is 15 percent in most restaurants and has been for many years. However, the high price places were getting bypassed in the percentage tipping, so to make things plainer and more productive, tipping is now mandatory in France.

Vacationers contemplating something special, may wish to check planning videos for information about popular destinations. Video cassette recorder (VCR) owners may draw upon tapes from many surrounding sources. These vary in cost from $10 to $40 from a video rental shop, while others are free from cruise and airline sources. Suburban public libraries have a catalogue for over 100 trip possibilities. These may be selected by a visit to your local library, who in turn orders it from their audio visual resources...no charge.

Travel offices also have access to destination cassettes and furnish them without charges, but possibly a returnable deposit may be required.

If your trip is being combined with fitness, Spa-Finders catalogue lists 200 such destinations in U.S. and elsewhere for $4. A questionnaire about needs is followed by a telephone conference. Spa-Finders make all travel arrangements and refund your $4. For information, call (800) 255-7727.

Careful Use Of Space Makes Roomier Cottage

A home doesn't have to be big to feel big. It's how you use the space available that counts.

For example, the interior designers at Armstrong took a too-small kitchen and dining room in a little cottage and, by knocking out a wall here, adding a pass-through there and other deft remodeling touches, created a spacious multipurpose kitchen "suite." Then they decorated it in a romantic English country style, perfect for a cottage interior.

The first step was to expand the tiny kitchen by removing the wall between it and a hallway, gaining a valuable extra few feet. The only thing now standing between the kitchen and the former hallway is a counter extending from a square floor-to-ceiling pillar which contains shelves for books and a television.

From a window seat in the former hallway, you can watch tv, read or dine on a "trolley table" that parks under the counter when not in use. The window seat is big enough for two adults to sit side by side.

Since this is the sort of small house a young couple with a baby might own, the designers came up with still another use for the window seat.

By lowering a detachable railing into grooves at the sides of the window seat, it becomes a playpen where baby can watch whatever's going on in the kitchen—and be watched in turn.

A pass-through was made in the wall between the kitchen and dining room which, with the addition of four wing chairs, now does double duty as a family room.

For company meals, the trolley table is rolled from the kitchen into the dining room-family room, the table's drop sides extended, and wing chairs pulled up. Four can dine comfortably that way.

The Time Machine

TWENTY YEARS AGO: August 24, 1967

The building of St. Stephens Lutheran Church on Rte. 59, just past Rte. 173, was nearing completion.

Since Norman Craig left Antioch High School, the school had been having a hard time finding a new teacher for electronics classes.

Emmons Grade School was scheduled to open on time on Sept. 5, despite the fact that the school's new addition was not completed.

A Certified Food Store was slated to go into the old A&P building.

Joseph Enis, Dale Esteb and Patrick Ring were added to the list of Antioch men serving in Vietnam.

Mrs. James McMillen and her models, including Angie Maras, came home from the Ill. State Fair in Springfield with prizes for their historical fashion show.

Gail and Jim Fields had a baby boy named Michael.

Joe & Helen's (Sterbenz) Little Acres restaurant, off of Grass Lake Rd., was one of 10 county restaurants receiving Lake County Health Dept. food sanitation awards.

Bob Horton was working on the general renovating of the Channel Lake School.

Four 20-ounce loaves of white bread were selling for 89 cents at the A&P. Two bedroom apartments were renting for $135 a month at the Colonial Ridge apartments.

TEN YEARS AGO: August 24, 1977

William Thompson, superintendent of the Lake County Educational Service Region, recommended that the Antioch Grade School Dist. be put on probation because of a reported breakdown of communication between the grade school board of education and the district's superintendent, Henry Meyer.

Dave Bushing and Art Moldenhauer were planning a trapshoot grudge match between the Antioch Liquors team and the Triple-A-Reloading team.

It was time for the Chamber of Commerce's Moonlight Madness Sale complete with the pajama wearing contest.

Ken Vos and Al Anderson had a grand opening of their Limerick Lounge.

Bill Nauman, Mike Haley, Jack Fields, Rich Higgins, Pres Reckers and Jerry Pfarr were on the committee planning the annual Antioch Open Golf Tournament at Spring Valley Country Club.

In a syndicated column written by citizen Ronald Reagan he lambasted Pres. Jimmy Carter's proposed trade with Cuba, describing it as "pennywise and pound foolish," but that was 10 years before we traded arms for money with Iran.

Pals For 33 Years, They Meet In England

by GLORIA DAVIS

Clara Svoboda of Antioch realized many people's dream when she and her husband Robert visited England this summer in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The special part of the Svoboda's trip came when they arrived in Castle Donington (two-and-one-half hours north of London) and met Janet Lee.

Clara and Janet had been pals for 33 years and hadn't met until then.

The two ladies had discussed their teenage experiences, their marriages and subsequently the births and raising of their children, without even sharing a cup of coffee together.

Thirty three years ago, Clara belonged to a youth group at the Antioch United Methodist Church and received Janet's name and address in England as part of a pen pal program.

The two had been corresponding, at least four letters a year, ever since then.

They had exchanged pictures over the years so Clara knew Janet the moment she saw her. "She was just what I thought she'd be," said Clara.

Janet is married and has three children and Clara and Robert have two children. Janet's husband is a lorry (truck) driver and Robert is the assistant plant manager at Picard China in Antioch.

The two couples visited for five days, became personally acquainted and caught up on the things they had forgotten to write about.

Janet's heavy English accent took some getting used to, said Clara, "If she talked to fast, her words all ran together."

It was 80 degrees in England during the Svoboda visit and the natives found the weather sweltering while Clara and Robert found it pleasant, especially since their home town was baking in temperatures over 90.

"One of the strangest things was the fact that they do not have window screens over there, not in homes, hotels, etc., and they aren't bothered by mosquitos or bugs," said Clara.

Since the average temperatures in England are much cooler than they were when Clara and Robert were there, air conditioning is rare and so is ice.

"They serve pop in a can at room temperature and though they drink a lot of tea, they do not serve ice tea," adds Clara.

As expected, the Svoboda's became well acquainted with England's famous fish and chips (fried fish served with French fries, topped with a malt vinegar), but they found the meat bland and salad, as Americans know it, was nowhere to be found.

Besides salad bars being a mystery to the English, the Svobodas found themselves questioned on the whys and wherefores of barbequeing, since the English do not cook outside.

Besides finding out the Sherwood Forest is as green as the legends, the Svobodas visited the Royal Crown Derby China Factory which was of particular interest to Robert.

The visit to London was also eye opening. Like most tourists, the Svobodas were charmed by the rose covered countryside of England, astounded when told that there was seldom fog in London, and also when they saw how fast the London drivers drive.

"Many of the buildings are darkly stained because of the old practice of using coal for heating. They are getting away from using coal and are busy cleaning up all the buildings," says Clara.

Their visit to Wales was a short one and the tour of Scotland their favorite. "That is the most beautiful countryside," said Clara.

Now that they are back in Antioch, Clara is looking forward to showing Janet the U. S. A. when she makes her planned visit sometime in the next five years, on the occasion of the English couples' 25th anniversary.

Millburn Grade Screens Kindergarten Students

Millburn School Dist. 24 is holding kindergarten screening for all 1987-88 registered district kindergarten students on Aug. 26 and 27, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Screening is also offered on Friday, Aug. 28, to district three- and four-year-old children whose parents feel they are at a moderate to high risk in some areas of learning development.

Call the school office at (312)356-8331 for more information and scheduled appointment.

Off St. Peters Board

Tom Fisher, member of the Antioch High School Board, who was also on the St. Peters Grade School Board of Education, has been off of the grade school board for three months. Fisher's being on both boards was used in an article in the Antioch News Reporter on the fact that people cannot be on two public school boards at once. Fisher's holding of seat on a parochial school board did not come under the public school code laws.

Historian At Seniors Meeting

The Lake County Council for Seniors will present the Lake County Museum's Hans Gill, an expert on county history, at its meeting Thursday, Sept. 3. The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Libertyville Twp. Office, 359 Merrill St. (off Winchester Rd.).

Inks Contract

Mike Sigel, the nation's top pool player, signs a contract with Brunswick Billiards at the company's Bristol, Wis., offices. Looking on is James J. Bakula of Lindenhurst, director of operations of Brunswick Billiards. Sigel will represent Brunswick in appearances around the country and world to promote game.

Brunswick Billiards Signs Top Pool Player

The nation's number one pool player has joined the number one name in billiards.

Mike Sigel, ranked tops by the Professional Billiards Assn., has joined the Brunswick Advisory Staff of Champions, announced James J. Bakula, director of operations of Brunswick Billiards.

"Brunswick is very pleased to add Mike Sigel to our staff," said Bakula, a Lindenhurst resident. "Not only does he have the reputation as the nation's premier player, but his appearance and personality provide a great image for the game."

Sigel, 34, of Townson, Md., signed a long-term contract at the company's Bristol, Wis., headquarters. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

"I'm very pleased to be a part of the Brunswick family, which has long been the number one name in the game," Sigel said. Brunswick has been building billiard tables and equipment since 1845.

Sigel has been top-ranked by the Professional Pool Players Assn. since 1979. He was named Player of the Year in 1981, 1983 and 1986.

He began playing pool at the age of 13 and turned professional at 20. Since turning pro, he has won more than 80 tournaments. In the last five years, he has collected 16 major titles, and is the first pool player to earn over six figures in a 12-month period, winning $102,176 the past year.

Prior to winning five major titles in 1986, Sigel served for 10 weeks as pool coach and consultant for the motion picture "The Color of Money," which starred Paul Newman and Tom Cruise. Newman won his first Academy Award for the film.

During the past few years, Sigel has appeared on numerous tv programs including ABC's "Wide World of Sports," CBS Sports, ESPN, "Good Morning America," and many local shows.

As a member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff, Sigel will make appearances around the country and world promoting the game.

Mortgage Rates Should Fall With Oil Prices

by GARY S. MEYERS

Happily for U.S. consumers, greedy OPEC members continue to overproduce, driving oil prices lower. Since July 20, prices have fallen by more than $2 per barrel on West Texas Intermediate and by as much as $1.90 on other grades.

Increases in OPEC oil production have been so great that the resulting surplus has offset an upward pressure on prices from the heightened tensions in the Persian Gulf. And, since oil prices are tied to inflation, this monster has remained tame, too.

Nonetheless, look for oil prices to fluctuate sharply up and down with every tanker that passes through the Gulf. But The Meyers Report advises that you not get caught up in the day-to-day fluctuations of the oil market.

Besides the good news from OPEC, the Producer Price Index, another major inflation indicator, posted a rise of only 0.2 percent for the month of June, or 2.4 percent annualized. All the experts are waiting for inflation to pick up, but don't bet on it. Inflation will be five percent or less for the year.

Forecast: Mortgage interest rates should remain stable as long as inflation is limited. Between now and the end of the year, rates should fall slightly, with many lenders offering 30-year fixed-rate mortgages at below 10 percent. However, consumers should expect moderate increases during the first quarter of 1988, as a strong housing market will probably return.

Housing starts. Recent signs of a less-than-strong market are changing. Housing starts in July rose 0.9 percent. However, even this modest gain is not representative of the entire nation.

The true strength of the housing picture is clouded by the economic difficulties in Texas and the rest of the oil-patch states. While the demand for mortgages is down in some parts of the nation because of the economy, other areas, such as Chicago, are seeing sluggish demand due to a lack of available housing.

South Korean labor costs will rise. Only days after South Korean corporations announced profit jumps of 25 percent to 33 percent, labor unions across the country struck for higher wages. This is the start of a trend in which cheap labor markets, like South Korea's, are beginning to see their competitive advantage erode. It happened in Europe, then in Japan. Now South Korea is just beginning.

Interest rates are near their high point for the year. Look for rates to come down slightly by December. Because interest rates are near the top of their projected trading range once again, bonds have become more attractive, creating trading opportunities and value for the portfolio holder.

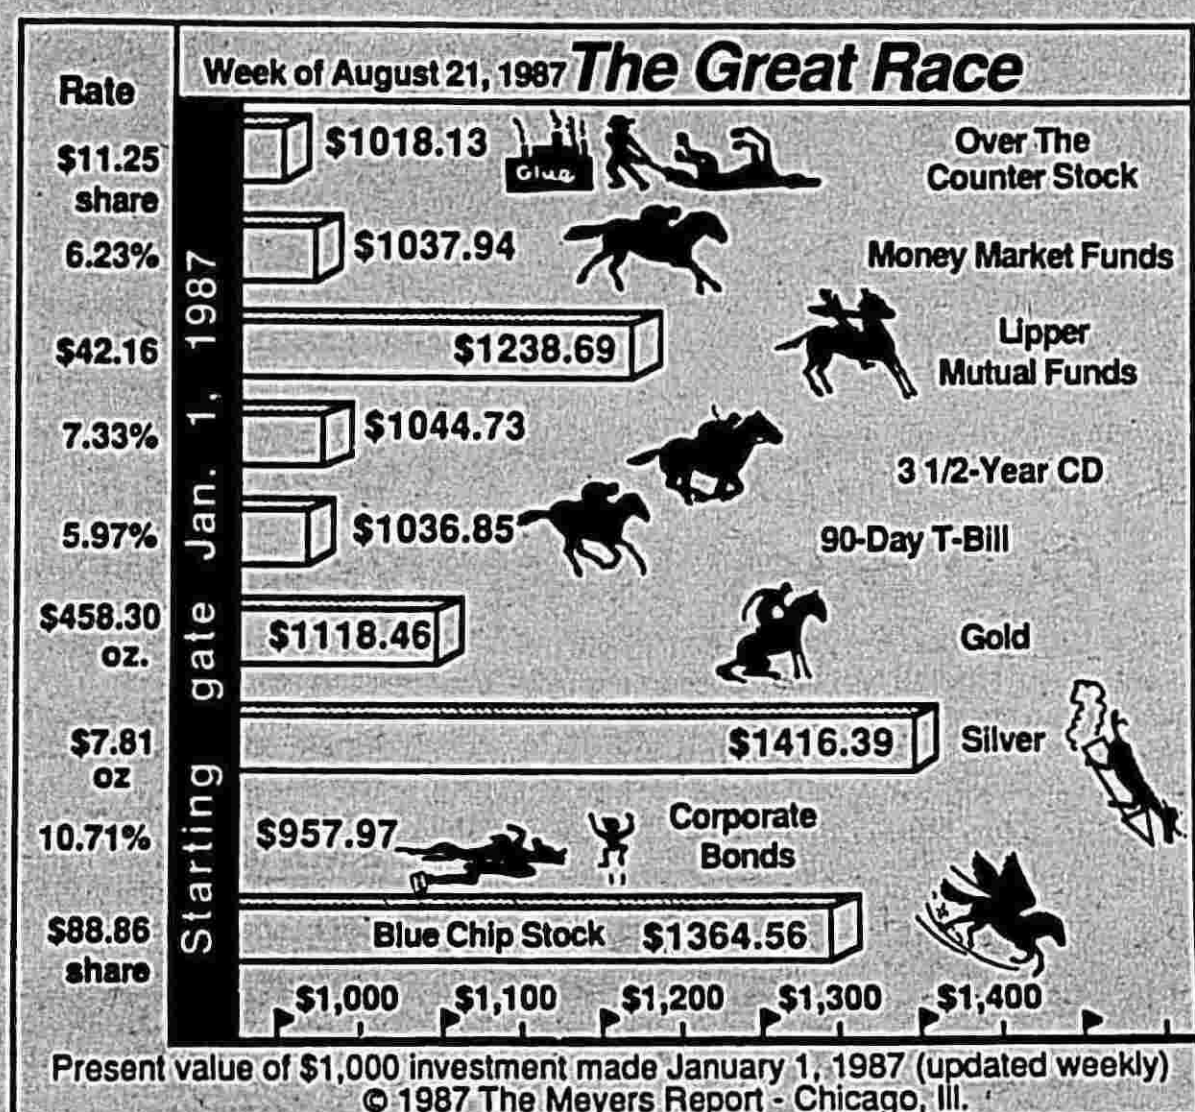

Look for foreign investors to again filter in to the U.S. bond market, taking a breather from the volatile stock market. This participation and limited U.S. inflation should push interest rates down toward the lower end of their projected trading range by the end of the year.

Remember: Foreign investors traditionally take a much longer view toward investment than their American counterparts. Thus, foreign investment adds stability to U.S. markets.

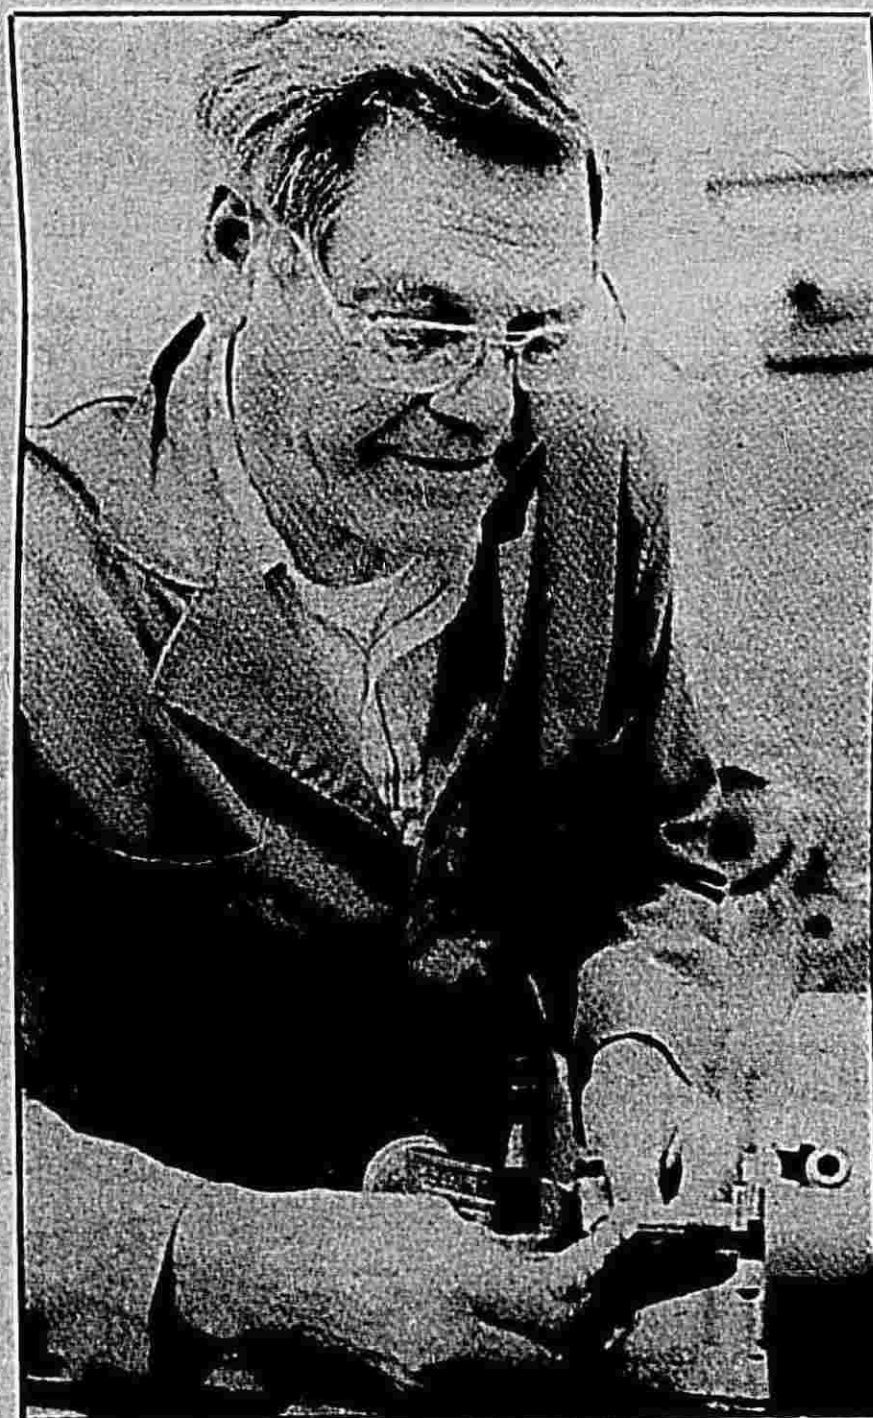

Treasury yields edged up this week in response to a surprising increase in the U.S. trade deficit and a falling dollar.

Yields on certificates of deposit posted scattered, small increases this week across the country, according to The Meyers Report survey of savings institutions.

Loans. U.S. mortgage rates showed few changes this week. The average rate for 30-year fixed-rate mortgages increased to 10.35 percent, from 10.34 percent last week.

Innis' Racing Team Likes Roadracing's New Image

When some people think of motorcycle roadracing, an image of a "grease monkey" working in the family garage comes to mind.

But like everything else, motorcycle roadracing is changing and becoming more professional, according to members of a Waukegan team.

"The image of a motorcycle rider is changing. The sport of roadracing, in our division, is probably the most competitive and professional this side of the 100 percent professional riders," Avery Innis of Innis Racing Service, said.

Innis, who is employed by Ron & Brian's Suzuki of Waukegan, directs a racing team which has competed in both sprints and endurance races over the past two years. The 'star' of the team is a 65XR 750 Suzuki bike which features local sponsors.

Ennis said the purses for Western-Eastern Roadracer's Assn. can be as high as $1,300 for first place at a single event. The top seven finishers receive prize money, going down to $70 for seventh place.

"Our bike is unique in the way we have acquired sponsorship," Innis said.

Local sponsors include KC Construction of Waukegan while there are also national sponsors for the bike such as Dunlop.

Ennis, who also tests riders for his team, said most roadracing riders have full-time jobs.

"Ninety-five percent of riders have full-time occupations. The most common scenario is for someone to leave a full-time job on Friday, jump in his van and drive 300 to 400 miles for an event. Most riders are upper middle class and affluent people," Innis said.

Ed Key of Cottage Grove, Wis. is the team's top rider while Bart Horn is No. 2. Key, who is only 5-7, has had 15 years of riding experience under his belt.

Roadraces are held in almost all kinds of weather and are rarely canceled due to Mother Nature.

"The only time a race is canceled is if visibility is poor. It's not like the Indy 500 when you can cancel and race the next day," Innis said.

While riders are clocked for time and race against each other, that is not all that a rider must be aware of, according to Horn.

"A rider has to be aware of everything," Horn said.

Improving technology in roadracing has made post-race improvements to engines something almost a thing of the past.

"We can go through a year without tearing down the engine. Most bikes will last probably a season," Innis said.

This year, Innis concentrated his team's efforts in the sprints but plans on expanding next year to more endurance races and buying more bikes.

"The endurance race is the best place to showcase the products we sell," Innis said.

The racing team has helped the sales at the Waukegan store, Innis said.

NCCHS Starts Search After Firing Basketball Coach

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Throughout the summer, the rosters of Waukegan East and North Chicago basketball teams from the North Chicago regional championship game were still listed on the North Chicago scoreboard.

Lester Long, who coached the Warhawks to the regional final in March, though, may not be back to try again in November.

The NCCHS Board of Education reversed its July vote to hire Long a 4-3 vote. Board President Sylvester Neal and members Marion McElroy and Herman Swopes voted against the motion.

In addition to firing Long, the board voted to seek to fill the position with an "in-house" staff member. No replacement for Long was hired at the meeting, two months before basketball season starts.

Long, who guided the Warhawks to a 14-14 record last season, does not teach at NCCHS. The Warhawks enjoyed a fast start and at one point tied for first in the North Suburban Conference race. East eliminated North Chicago in the regional final.

The board could be facing legal action from Long. Neal signed Long's contract for 1987-88 but it was not known if Long had signed it.

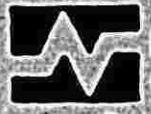

Gerald Coleman, Foss Park Dist. director, said that in a similar case, a judge ruled that the board's minutes constituted a legal contract.

Showing The Way

Round Lake football coach Mike Dunn makes a point during practice last week. Panthers are in mid-season drills preparing for season opener Sept. 4 against Elmwood Park.

Grayslake To Call Gurnee 'Home' For Football Opener

Unless a hitch develops, Grayslake will be playing its first home football game in Gurnee.

The Rams and St. Catherine's of Racine were scheduled to play at Grayslake High School, but football field work there has necessitated the change to Warren Twp. High School.

Warren High Athletic Director Mike Kunkle said he was asked by Grayslake AD and football coach Harold Jahnke to move the Sept. 5 game to Warren.

Warren opens its season against Niles North at home the night before. Also, freshman games were scheduled for the morning of Sept. 5.

Also, Grayslake High gave permission for Warren's volleyball team to practice there for one week while the school's only practice facility - its field house - is used for other purposes.

Elsewhere, area teams are now getting used to running plays this week in preparation for football openers Sept. 4 and 5.

"The first week is three days without pads so you try to do a lot of conditioning work. Beginning tomorrow (Monday), we will begin concentrating on our first opponent," Johnsbury coach Mike Roberts said.

Roberts has the flexibility of working with 42 players this year.

"Execution is now the most important thing," he said.

The Skyhawks travel to Richmond-Burton to open the season Sept. 3. In other season openers, Antioch hosts Libertyville Sept. 5, Mundelein is at Lake Forest Sept. 5 and North Chicago is at Zion-Benton Sept. 5.

Carmel hosts Waukegan East Sept. 4.

In the Northwest Suburban Conference, Grant is at Jacobs Sept. 5, Round Lake hosts Elmwood Park Sept. 4 and Wauconda is at Cary-Grove Sept. 4.

Area football fans should not miss next week's editions as Lakeland Newspapers will feature its annual football section. This year the previews will be expanded to include the area college teams, the Chicago Bears and your favorite prep team. Also, the all-Lakeland area team will be announced.

Tournament Calibre Golf Course For Mundelein?

Deerfield's loss may be Mundelein's gain.

Thorngate Country Club, unable to sign a new long-term lease for its present site, is planning to build Ivanhoe Club, an 18-hole, par 72 championship golf course outside of Mundelein.

"I truly feel this course has an opportunity to be one of the best in the Chicago area," Bruce Borland, golf course architect for Dick Nugent Associates, said.

One of the main reasons why Borland and area golfers may be excited about the future course is its natural features. Located on 225 acres off Rte. 176, the course, dubbed Ivanhoe Country Club, includes more than 100 acres of trees as well as ponds.

So perhaps duffers may need not apply.

"We were asked to develop a truly championship golf course. This was designed with a tournament in mind," Borland said.

Borland and Thorngate representatives explained their plans - which includes housing, at a Mundelein Plan Commission meeting.

According to Borland, the course can play from 7,100 yards to a minimum of 5,340 yards depending on which tee a golfer hits from.

Borland said the fairways would be of the bent grass variety with no more than a 25 percent slope.

In addition to the trees and the ponds, existing prairie would be used on holes Nos. 15, 16 and 17, Borland said.

"You don't want to be foolish and disrupt the site," Borland said.

Tree consultants have been employed to study how many trees have a good chance of survival and which ones do not.

Duffers on the private club's membership roles beware: plans call for 70 sand barriers around the holes. As usual, the thickness of the rough will increase the farther one moves from the fairway.

Borland said the aim is to strive a balance between enjoyment and challenge.

"We don't want to make it impossible for the golfer to navigate," Borland said.

Thorngate officials hope to get construction under way in September.

Peter Guerin Salutes Elvis At Antioch Pub

Orchard Street Lounge, located in the Antioch Shopping Plaza, in association with Silver Crest Productions, proudly presents "A Tribute To Elvis", with the widely acclaimed Peter Guerin Show, on Friday's and Saturday's, Aug. 28, 29 and Sept. 4 and 5.

Guerin is a very talented and powerful singer who sounds like the late "King" of Rock and Roll, Elvis Presley. He says that his performance is a tribute to Elvis and his voice is all his own, not a put-on.

But what a show Peter puts on. One unconfirmed report says Presley himself referred to Guerin as the only entertainer that did him justice.

The two met at the International Hotel in Las Vegas, in 1974. "The King" was impressed when he met Peter.

Guerin describes the meeting, saying, "He snickered after I was introduced and said, 'Okay, sing.' I sang a few lines of 'All Shook Up' or something, and he sort of chuckled at hearing someone who sounds like him."

"It was just an awesome feeling," says Guerin. "It made me realize that there really was something to what I was doing, and it gave sort of a new meaning to the tribute."

Guerin's stage prowess has developed him quite a following of his own, particularly through-out the mid-western United States. He has had overwhelming audiences from Chicago, Indiana, Florida, Michigan, New York, Canada, to the International Hotel in Las Vegas.

He has performed on television in Chicago and New York, namely the Lee Phillips Show and The Merv Griffin Show, respectfully, and has performed with such acts as the Swinging Majority and "The Drifters".

Whether one is a big Elvis fan or just out after an evening of lively, well paced entertainment, the Peter Guerin Show fills the bill. The entire show is handled masterfully with a cross section of songs written by Presley, as well as by other recording artists.

In Guerin's own words, he does his show as a tribute for entertainment, with hopefully a lot of happiness and perhaps some sadness, bought into an evening of entertainment. His main goal is to be Peter Guerin, because there was, and only will be, one Elvis Presley.

Reservations are advised and can be made by calling (312) 395-5305.

Kirk Players Announce Season 22 Productions

Busily preparing to start their 22nd year of community service, the Mundelein based "Kirk Players" announced that their 1987-88 subscription series productions will be "This Must Be The Place!", "Monique", "Light Up The Sky" and "Breakfast With Les And Bess".

"This Must Be The Place!" by Mark Ferris, opens the new season on Oct. 2 and 3. It is a new maniacal farce by the author of "Don't Tell Mother" which Players did two seasons ago.

"It is filled with the usual word games, mistaken identities, zany characters and beautiful girls and has absolutely no redeeming qualities except just plain frothy fun," says Dir. J. Lynn.

The Kirk Players feel they've discovered another "sleeper" for their Nov. 20 and 21 production. Little known "Monique" by Dorothy and Michael Blankfort, is a terrifying suspense drama with just a touch of the supernatural thrown in. It is also a study of one of the most ingenious murder methods in all annals of crime-absolutely foolproof and impossible to detect.

Moss Hart's amusing comedy about "show folks" will be the groups third show on March 4 and 5, 1988. It revolves around a group of New York theatre folk who are involved in the production of a new play. They hope to light up the sky with their opening night performance. When the audience doesn't react quite the way the "company" wants, their reactions become the main thrust of this endearing comedy.

Their 22nd Season closes with "Breakfast With Les And Bess" by Lee Kalcheim on April 29 and 30. A delightful romantic comedy about a married couple who co-host a radio talk show which is about to be cancelled due to lack of interest. Since their marriage is based on their show, they may have to cancel it as well. A sweetly old-fashioned, wise-cracking, almost screwball new contemporary comedy.

Designed to provide a variety of entertainment for the audience and fun and challenge for the Players, their 22nd season includes some old and some new with plenty of laughter and suspense.

All Kirk Player Subscription Series productions will be presented at the Mundelein High School auditorium at 8 p.m. As usual, all proceeds from the productions are donated to nonprofit, service oriented organizations preselected by the Players.

All profits from the 1987-88 shows will be donated to the Lake County Arts Council, Omni House Youth Services Greenhouse Program, the Military Order of the Cootie and the Libertyville Lionesses and the Youth and Family Counseling Auxiliary.

In their ongoing efforts to provide good community theatre at low prices and their attempts to get families to enjoy live theatre together, the Players will again offer Subscription Season Tickets at substantial savings over tickets purchased individually.

A Family Pass admits two adults and all their single children living at home to all four shows for only $24. A regular season pass, which allows two adults to see all four productions, costs $18.

"Compared to individual ticket prices," explained Jesse Becker, the groups financial director, "which are $4 for adults, that's four shows for less than the price of three."

In addition, season ticket holders are acknowledged in the program, receive the official newsletter, are eligible to vote in the awards program, are invited to the annual awards banquet, and in general, are treated as very special supporters.

Season tickets are now available from any Kirk Player or by calling John W. Lynn at (312) 566-6594.

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

John Cougar Mellencamp will release his first album in two years at the end of August. Titled "The Lonesome Jubilee," the LP moves into what one early listener called "a musical genre of its own." For this album, Mellencamp's band learned to augment their guitars and drums by playing instruments ranging from pennywhistle, accordion and melodian to mandolin, fiddle, pedal steel guitar and autoharp. The only difference is that the Mellencamp band members use these unorthodox instruments to produce music with a savage rock edge.

Lyrical, many of "The Lonesome Jubilee's" songs center on the tiny intimacies that give life value and the petty evils that even the best meaning people inflict on each other. Says John Cougar Mellencamp, "It's about small victories in our lives. It's a lonesome jubilee because most small victories are things experienced by just one person with at most one or two other people around. The album's about trying to follow your vision. And it's about bruised optimism."

As long as it's not about small towns.

If I may stray from the normal syllabus for a while, I have to point out that it's been many years since Julio Iglesias has recorded an entire album in Spanish, but one listen to "Un Hombre Solo" should convince you that it was worth the wait.

"Un Hombre Solo" is Julio at his very best, singing love songs composed by master songwriter Manuel Alejandro and sung in the language that catapulted Julio to the very pinnacle of international superstardom. For those millions of fans who had eagerly awaited Julio's next Spanish language album, the answer is apparent and available now for everyone. The answer is "Un Hombre Solo."

Unbelievably, The Lynrd Skynrd Band is reuniting for a live set at Charlie Daniels' "Volunteer Jam" with a tour to follow, but personnel is uncertain. Stay tuned.

Starlight's Programs To Be Bigger, Better In '88

Starlight Theatre in Wilmette produces one or two Broadway musicals each summer. This year's offering was "Carousel" in July, a big hit even though the official opening night was rained out.

The theatre's offerings, always free to the public, are produced in the Wallace Bowl, located in Gillson Park on Lake Michigan. It was built during the Depression.

Three years ago, the stone terracing was completely refurbished, and bleacher seating, able to accommodate approximately 2,000 viewers, was installed.

In front of the bleachers, a large lawn can accommodate another 3,000 people on lawn chairs.

Like at Ravinia, many patrons arrive early to secure seating and enjoy a picnic dinner.

Gillson Park, which houses a beach, boat harbor, picnic areas and Coast Guard station, is a lovely spot for a walk before show time.

Besides concerts that ran a musical gamut, from patriotic to dance music, from Dixieland and jazz to songs from barbershop quartets. This season's agenda featured '40s music and even a pops concert.

The season closed on Aug. 13 with "Barbershop Night," which was hosted by the North Shore Harmonizers.

With Proper Adjustments, Dentures Can Serve Well

Good news! Dramatic advances in dental care over the last 20 years have meant that the percentage of denture wearers is on the increase.

Fluoride, sealants, bonding, periodontal and endodontal (root canal) breakthroughs, and a host of restorative procedures are allowing more and more Americans to keep their own teeth throughout their lives.

And for those who must wear dentures—according to the American Dental Assn., 90 percent of the population—denture wearers—the news is equally encouraging.

Thanks to dental technology, dentures are now more comfortable than ever and can be constructed so that they defy detection.

As new insight is gained in the art of denture-making, many obstacles to wearing successfully and happily with dentures can be easily overcome.

People have a number of anxieties and concerns about what their lives will be like with dentures. They become embarrassed. They see dentures as a telltale sign that they are growing old," said Dr. A. Albert Yurkstas, chairman of the department of dental medicine in Boston. "They are concerned that they will no longer be able to eat comfortably or perhaps won't be able to eat their favorite dishes without the dentures becoming loose and falling out. They worry about their attractiveness to business colleagues and the opposite sex," he continued. "Coping with these anxieties requires a good sense of perspective and a positive outlook."

He said that denture wearers must accept their dentures as a valuable and important aid to happy, healthy living.

So, denture wearers should be good to themselves, and take the steps necessary to make denture-wearing a positive experience. They can start by selecting dentures that look like their natural teeth.

Too many people want perfectly shaped, white teeth. The result is dentures that don't look natural. Dentures will look real if the person is willing to have the shape, tooth color and gum color adjusted to those of the original teeth.

Next, they should develop techniques that will make the dentures feel more natural. Having teeth where there once was space may cause a person to say certain words differently. This can be adapted to by reading aloud until all sounds can be pronounced clearly and distinctly.

To keep dentures from tipping while eating, learn to chew food with the back teeth on both sides of the mouth. Over time, this will seem more natural, and jaw muscles will become stronger and better coordinated, which will also help keep dentures in place.

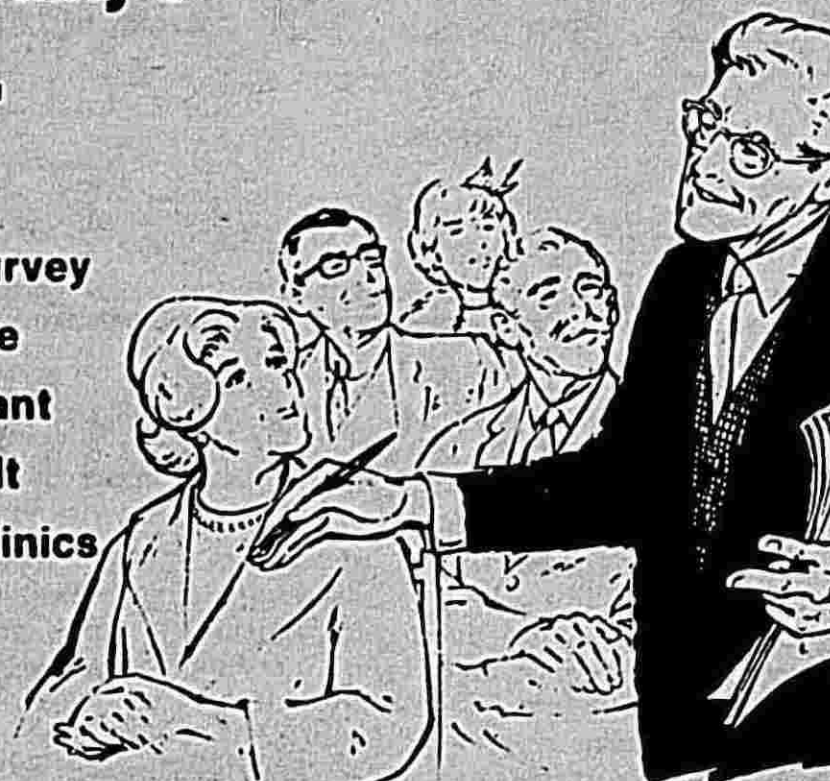

Hot foods and foods with bones should be avoided at first.

Although dentures retain their shape, the mouth is constantly changing. Over time, the gum and bony ridge that supports the dentures may shrink, causing dentures to feel loose.

To make them feel more secure, visit the dentist at least once yearly, as the dentures may require some adjustments.

STRICTLY for SENIORS

Let these merchants and services help you to make the most of your Golden Years.

Elderly Gallop In Numbers

by STATE REP. DICK KLEMM

Thanks to improved medical care and better nutritional habits, the number of senior citizens in the world is growing at an unprecedented rate.

Today, 23 nations have elderly populations above two million, and by the year 2025 it is expected that another 27 nations will exceed that milestone.

Worldwide, the number of people over 65 is growing at 2.4 percent annually, much faster than the global population as a whole.

With 28.6 million citizens aged 65 and over, the U.S. ranks third in the world, surpassed only by China (52.9 million) and India (32.7 million). Senior citizens today represent one of the fastest growing segments in our society, and for that reason we must reexamine and change public policy to accommodate this rapidly-increasing group.

Here in Illinois, we have seen many such changes over the past several years. Programs have been established to help senior citizens on fixed incomes handle property taxes and pharmaceutical expenses.

Research and services dealing with victims of Alzheimer's Disease have been initiated. And tougher laws against criminals who prey on the elderly have been enacted.

Again this year, the Illinois legislature addressed this fast-growing segment of our society by approving several new measures.

In 1984, the General Assembly established the Elder Abuse Demonstration Program to study the problem of abuse of senior citizens and to test various methods of prevention and treatment.

Four demonstration sites were set up around the state, and during the two-year program over 500 reports of abuse, neglect and financial exploitation were reported.

This year, lawmakers approved a measure which would expand this program statewide. Based on information from the demonstration program, it is anticipated that over 2,500 elder abuse reports would be received statewide each year. It is expected that the program could be statewide by sometime in 1988.

Another existing program for senior citizens was also expanded this year. In 1983, the legislature established the Senior Citizens Real Estate Tax Deferral program, which allows eligible seniors to defer property tax payments until after their death or after the property is sold.

Currently, persons age 65 and over who qualify for the "Circuit Breaker" program can apply for this deferral.

Under legislation passed this spring, disabled persons age 60 or over may also apply for property tax deferral. To be eligible, all persons must have owned and occupied their home for the last three years and have the property insured against fire or casualty loss for at least the total taxes deferred.

Beauty Makeovers Aid Attractiveness

How many times have you wondered what the missing link is between looking plain and looking glamorous? Although today's mature woman understands the secrets of getting younger looking skin and trimmer waistlines, she still is unsure how to use makeup to make her look her best.

Women's magazines never address the older woman's beauty questions, leaving mature women in the dark.

Well, now there's some help: a former model and beauty columnist has created Makeover-By-Mail, a personalized beauty makeover service through the mail that personally analyzes women of all ages and gives them an instructional kit with diagrams and suggestions on that woman's features.

Here is a small fraction of helpful makeup tips from them to get you started on your road to beauty:

-Start the day off with a thick, creamy moisturizer and a sunscreen. End the day with another slather of moisturizer around eyes and mouth.

-Use cream products instead of powders (powders emphasize lines.)

-Choose cream foundations that match your skintone exactly, or opt for one that is slightly lighter.

-Always wear some face-freshening lipstick and blush when going out. Some good colors for mature women are salmon, soft rose, peach or apricot.

-Keep eyes understated with just a touch of soft brown or grey on lids and just a trace of soft pink on browbone to make eyes sparkle.

-Never wear extreme, garish or fluorescent makeup colors and always use matte instead of pearlized or iridescent as this emphasizes lines and dry skin.

These hints are just a smattering of the tips Makeover-By-Mail provides. Just send in a recent photograph with information on your skintone, eye color and hair color and they will send you back an instructional kit on how to make you look your most beautiful.

This nationally acclaimed service is for women of all ages! Just send a check or money order for $14.95 (plus $1 postage) to Makeover-By-Mail, P.O. Box 8250, F.D.R.

Senior Housing Corp. Seeking Project

Newly formed Waukegan Senior Housing Corporation has submitted an application to HUD for Section 202 funding for a rehabilitation of the former Karcher Hotel in Waukegan.

The application seeks nearly $2.7 million to undertake remodeling and historical restoration with the goal of developing 61 units of rent subsidized senior citizen housing at the site.

The proposal provides for senior citizen housing in one of the communities designated by HUD as in need of senior housing. In addition, it provides for the rehabilitation of a vacant structure in a key downtown location aiding the downtown revitalization effort of Mayor Robert Sabonjian.

The service package included in this proposal calls for management and social services by Lutheran Social Services of Illinois, medical and home health care services by Victory Hospital and nutrition and food services by Victory Hospital.

The Waukegan Senior Housing Corporation is comprised of local religious, social service and civic leaders. It was formed to provide elderly and handicapped persons with housing facilities and services especially designed to meet their physical and social needs. It was incorporated in late May as an Illinois general not-for-profit corporation.

In a letter of support included in the proposal, Mayor Robert Sabonjian stated that the city wholeheartedly supports Waukegan Senior Housing Corporation's effort to rehabilitate the Karcher Hotel and return it to productive use.

Approximately 41 applications were made this year for monies designated for such projects. HUD will announce this year's funding awards in late September.

Illinois Seeking Centenarians

Governor James R. Thompson proclaimed Centenarians Day in Illinois, joining other governors and President Reagan in honoring America's citizens who are age 100 or older.

"Centenarians have a vast wealth of experiences for us to learn about to make our lives as rich and rewarding as theirs have been. Older people are a valuable cultural resource and are the transmitters of our nation's history, ethics, culture and heritage," Thompson said.

"It is remarkable to contemplate living in an era when the over-100 age group is one the fastest growing segments of our population. Even more remarkable are the changes that these people have witnessed—from the invention of the gasoline engine to the conquest of outer space; from the invention of the zipper to the supercomputer," he said.

Janet S. Otwell, director of the Illinois Dept. on Aging, said that census figures show that the number of people surviving to and beyond 100 has increased from some 4,000 to over 24,000 in 1980.

Individuals are being encouraged to send names, ad-resses, and birth dates of centenarians they know to:

The Illinois Dept. on Aging, Office of Public Information and Advocacy, 421 East Capitol, Springfield, Ill., 62701 or they can call toll-free at 1-800-252-8966.

Bill Would Assist Senior Citizen Victims

Senior citizens would be entitled to restitution from an offender if they are injured or their property is damaged in the course of a criminal act, under legislation co-sponsored by Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and approved by a Senate committee.

"Criminals are preying on defenseless senior citizens, and these offenders must be stopped," said Geo-Karis. "The victims may not have the means to replace property that is damaged during vandalism or theft or to pay for medical care for injuries they suffer at the hands of attackers, and rightfully they shouldn't be expected to cover these expenses."

Her legislation (HB 2740) would require restitution to be made in criminal offenses against persons 65 or older, if they suffered injuries or their property was damaged.

Matijevich Gives Full Backing To CUB Issues

State Rep. John S. Matijevich (D-North Chicago) has a 100 percent voting record on issues supported by the Citizens Utility Board (CUB).

The board represents consumers before the Illinois Commerce Commission and the courts, and was the major force behind the defeat of Commonwealth Edison's $660 million rate increase plan.

Matijevich was chief sponsor of legislation that will allow CUB to recruit members by inserting membership information into certain state mailings. The measure, on Gov. James Thompson's desk, would allow CUB to communicate directly with Illinois consumers by including inserts in state mailings such as drivers license renewals. CUB pays for printing and any incremental costs.

Matijevich said that it is important that consumers have a voice.

Save More In Europe, Get Refund On Taxes

by JIM WARNKEN
President, North Star Travel

Want to save another five to 35 percent on that already good buy you just made while on vacation in Europe? Then ask the shopkeeper for a form to refund the "VAT" tax.

In most countries in Europe, a form of sales tax called a Value Added Tax, or VAT, is added to purchases. In an effort to encourage tourists to spend more U.S. dollars overseas, many countries are refunding this tax to tourists. Purchases generally have to be over $100 to qualify.

Getting your refund is a three-step process. First you fill out a form at the shop where you made your purchase. You then have this form validated by a customs official when you leave the country. Finally, you mail the validated form back to the shop and wait for the refund.

Using a credit card may be of some help here. Credit card charges for sales made overseas take some time before they are charged to your account. A VAT refund for credit card purchases will be credited to the same account to which the purchase was charged. Quite often the credit and the charge will be on the same bill. You will still have to do the same amount of paperwork, but you may not have to pay for your purchase before you get your refund.

Forest Board Approves Area Land Purchases

Lake County Forest Preserve commissioners have approved two land purchases—180 acres of marshland in Ela Township, and 41.5 acres south of Belvidere St. in Waukegan.

The marshland site, located southeast of the intersection at Rte. 12 and Cuba Rd. in Ela Twp., is a natural habitat for black-crowned herons and other wild animals and rare flowers. The decision to acquire it was unanimously approved.

Dist. 6 Representatives John Reindl and Bruce Hansen both praised the area, which was under threat of development if it were not acquired.

The decision to acquire the Waukegan property was more controversial, and passed by a vote of 15-4. The 41.5 Drobick-owned acres will become part of the Greenbelt Forest Preserve.

Objections by Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian and the Waukegan City Council, resulted in an amendment that excludes 13.5 acres, and supposedly will allow Waukegan to develop that land.

Dist. 4 Rep. Fred Popp of Lake Villa claimed that the acquisition would naturally stem the growth of nearby racially mixed neighborhoods.

That accusation was countered with claims that Waukegan needs to preserve what little undeveloped land it has.

Yearbook Available

Lake County Clerk Linda Hess announced that copies of the 1987 Lake County Reference and Yearbook are now available in her office, 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

THIS WEEK'S

HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Remember who your friends are.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) You may be a bit apprehensive now about diving into new things, but abandon your rationale and go with it; taking chances can pay off for you.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Take yourself on a little trip to the mall; you deserve a special gift to yourself after all those long hours at work. Make sure you don't neglect friends.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Some family members may demand that you put in extra hours at home. It would be wise to go with this since you may soon need their help.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) As the summer draws to a close, make sure you take time for your social life. You must, however, be sure to keep your priorities in strict order.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) If people in your scope are feuding, be sure to lay low; it will blow over. Now is a good time to take a gamble on some enterprising idea you know of.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) New faces are entering your life now. Take advantage of this and learn from the experiences of others. Don't be too suspect of first impressions.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) That good mood you have is wearing off on others — keep it up! Your likability, as well as your social life altogether, is bound to spruce itself up.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) If you don't know the answer to some pressing question, don't horse around; honesty is the best policy. A humble attitude can reap you many rewards.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) This is not the time for any great ventures into the business world. Be more concerned with your friends and family and how best to serve them.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your social calendar is quite full now, and you would do well to be your most congenial at these gatherings. Important people will be lurking about.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) If your love life has been less than adequate, rest assured that romance is on the horizon for you. In fact, you may be overwhelmed by new prospects!

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Keep your fast and furious pace up, and you will surely be rewarded for your efforts. You must, however, be sure not to wear yourself down too soon.

If you were born this week, your innate ability for cleverly handling your tasks is most likely your best asset. The only drawback here is using this talent in severely unconventional ways. You would do well to harness this trait and keep it in your reserve tank for times of true need.

The second annual Downtown Hoedown will be held Sunday, Sept. 13 at the corner of Grand Ave. and County St. in Waukegan. Admission is free.

Last year's event drew a crowd of over 1,500 throughout the day while competing with a Sunday afternoon Bears game.

This year, festival coordinator Debra Pavaroni points out, the Bears will be playing Monday night football on Sept. 14, so the crowd should be even bigger.

Headlining the roundup of entertainment is country rock band Jump in the Saddle. Most widely known for their hit single, "The Curly Shuffle," this seven-piece band will perform from 4 to 6 p.m. at the hoedown.

Opening the festival at noon will be the Western Echoes. They are a five-piece band that can be heard most weekends at the Country Music Inn on Rte. 22 near Lincolnshire.

Returning bands include the Heart of Dixie, based primarily in Zion, and the Silver Dollar Band seen frequently at the Sundance Saloon in Mundelein.

For all of those interested in dance, the Buys and Belles Square Dance Club will give a presentation at 1 p.m., featuring caller Bob Wilson.

Country western dance lessons, presented by the Sundance Saloon.

IS WALKING GOOD FOR THE SPINE?

ABSOLUTELY! Walking is very good exercise for the spine. The spinal vertebrae have little cushions in between one another called discs. These discs have a limited blood supply and are dependant on a process known as imbibition to obtain nutrients and oxygen and to remove waste products from the cellular structures that make up the disc. Imbibition occurs when the vertebra gently open and close during the walking mechanism.

Churchill, Frederick Endorse Bob Dole

State Reps. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) and Virginia Frederick (R-Lake Forest) have endorsed U.S. Senator Robert Dole (R-Kansas) for the Republican nomination for President in 1988. Dole received the endorsements of 25 Republican members of the Illinois House of Representatives while attending the House Republican Campaign Committee's annual fundraising dinner.
